III. Business and Other Risks

This section explains the risks that may affect the Group's operating results, price of stock, financial condition, and so on. The Company intends to make its best efforts to keep control of and avoid, as much as possible, the occurrence of such risks. The risks listed below do not constitute an exhaustive catalogue of all potential risks facing the Company's operations. In this section, the discussions of the future reflect the observations reached by the Company as of the end of the first half of the year under review.

- (1) Factors Affecting Changes in Financial Condition or Operating Results
- ① Competitive Conditions, Trend of Pricing

The industry of which the Group is a part is highly competitive, and the Company takes advantage of its technological superiority to differentiate its products from their competitors. Still, the Company may lose its share of the market to a competitor whose product emulates the design or technology belonging to the Company's product, and undercuts its price, or whose own design or technology excels the Company's. Since the market constantly pressures its suppliers to mark down their prices, there is no assurance that the Group can consistently ensure a substantial profit margin for its products.

② Macroeconomic Circumstances

Japan accounts for more than 90% of all sales generated by the Group. This causes demand for its products to be greatly affected by the capital-investment behavior of local customers. If a local economic downturn depresses corporate earnings, which in turn restrains business equipment investment, a shrinkage in demand for its products may adversely affect the Group's operating results or financial condition.

③ Funding Risks, Consequences of Interest Rate Fluctuations

The Group is in the business of manufacturing products, which calls for investing regularly in constructing and renewing/replacing facilities necessary to prepare for the future. At present, the Company enjoys good relationships with its banks and has no trouble raising funds as needed, but there is no assurance that the Company can continue to meet its funding needs readily over the years to come. Most outstanding long-term debts and bonds issued and owed by the Company are arranged already to pay fixed interest rates, and are little exposed to the risks of fluctuating interest rates generally. Yet, as far as its future funding is concerned, the movements of general interest rates might affect the Company's operating results.

Consequences of Investing in Securities

The Group owns shares of stock in the financial institutions it deals with, its associated businesses, and its primary trading relationships, which the Company intends to hold for the long term. Changes in the prices of the individual stock issues held by the Company might affect its operating results.

(2) Quality Control, Statutory Regulations

Product quality maintenance

The Group manufactures a variety of products in accordance with globally recognized quality standards (ISO 9001). This provides no assurance, however, of preventing severe contingencies or serious complaints from arising from or because of any of the products over the years ahead. The Company is insured against product liability claims, yet there is no assuring that the insurance could completely cover all eventual damages the Company might be found liable for in a case that might occur. A severe product deficiency might affect the reputation enjoyed by the Group, to the effect of adversely affecting its operating results or financial condition.

(3) Occurrence of Significant Litigation

At present, the Group is not in any way the subject of a claim or lawsuit seeking damages that could have a material impact on the Company's operating results in the future. Regarding the future, however, in the normal course of the Group's business activities, it is possible that a lawsuit or other claim might be initiated against the Group on charges of supplying a defective product, producing a hazardous substance, or breaching an intellectual property right, or on a range of other grounds. Depending upon the details, such an occurrence might adversely affect the Group's operating results.

4. Accounting policies

- (a) Standards and methods for valuation of significant assets
 - (1) Securities

Other securities

Securities with market value

Market value method based on values such as the market price at the end of the interim term

(All valuation differences were accounted for as separate components of shareholders' equity, and the cost of selling was calculated on the moving average method.)

Securities without market value

Cost method based on the moving average method

(2) Derivatives

Market value method

(3) Inventories

Cost method based on the moving average method

- (b) Methods of depreciation of significant depreciable assets
 - (1) Tangible fixed assets

Fixed percentage method, except that buildings (excluding building equipment) acquired on or after April 1, 1998 are depreciated by the straight-line method.

The duration of useful lives and residual value were determined subject to the standards prescribed in the Japanese Corporation Tax Law.

(2) Intangible fixed assets

Straight-line method.

The years of depreciation and amortization were determined subject to the standards prescribed in the Japanese Corporation Tax Law.

Goodwill is amortized in equal amounts over five years, and software for in-house use is amortized using the straight-line method over an estimated useful life for internal use (5 years).

(c) Standards for providing for significant allowances

(1) Allowance for doubtful accounts

In order to provide against loss arising from bad debts, the Company has provided for estimated uncollectable amounts.

① General receivables

Based on the method of actual bad debt rates.

Receivables from doubtful, bankrupt, or reorganized debtors Based on the method of valuating financial positions.

(2) Allowance for bonuses payable

To prepare for the payment of bonuses to employees, the amount expected to be payable to all employees for the interim term under review was determined based on the portion of total amount expected to be payable corresponding to the current interim term.

(3) Severance and employee retirement benefits

To prepare for payment of severance and retirement benefits to employees, the amount considered to have been accrued as of the end of the current term was given based on the estimated amount of liabilities for severance and retirement benefits and pension assets at term end.

Past service liabilities were accounted for as an expense by the amount prorated over a certain number of years (14 years) not exceeding the average remaining service period of employees in the year in which the liabilities are recognized. Actuarial differences were accounted for as expenses effective the year following their accrual by the amount prorated over a certain number of years (14 years) not exceeding the average remaining service period of employees in each year of accrual.

(Change in accounting method)

The differences caused by mathematical calculation had been amortized by the straight-line method heretofore. However, the Company has announced the change of structure of the retirement benefits provided from the current regime of tax qualified pension plan to newly instituted defined contribution pension plan, from this fiscal year calculation method has changed to fixed percentage method in order to contribute to healthy financial standing.

As this change of method, comparing with the method before, operating income, ordinary income and Interim net income have decreased 47million yen.

(Additional information)

Heretofore, to prepare for payment of retirement benefits to directors of the Company and major consolidated subsidiaries, the Company had provided for the amount considered necessary under the internal rules, though the Company has announced the abolishment of retirement allowance system of directors effective as of the general meeting of shareholders held on June. According to the abolishment, directors who are in continuing services, shall be furnished with the amount of retirement appropriate to their service time to the date of abolishment and will be calculated based on the system before abolishment. This subject has resolved at the ordinary general meeting of shareholders and the amount involved by this abolishment which was 497million yen recognized as Other liabilities in Long –term liabilities.

(d) Method of accounting for significant lease transactions

Excluding transactions where the ownership of the leasehold asset is transferred to the lessee, finance lease transactions were accounted for in accordance with the normal lease transaction method.

(e) Significant hedge accounting method

(1) Hedge accounting method for deferred hedges and the like

The Company has adopted an exceptional treatment for interest rate swap transactions since the requirements for the treatment have been met. Foreign currency-denominated receivables that are hedged by forward foreign exchange contracts are accounted for using the contracted forward rates.

(2) Hedge method and transactions to be hedged

Hedge method Transactions to be hedged Interest rate swap Interest on borrowings

(with the risk of loss that may arise due to fluctuations in the interest rate market and will consequently change cash flows)

Forward exchange Foreign currency transactions receivables

(with the risk of loss that may arise due to fluctuations in the foreign exchange market that will consequently change cash flows)

(3) Hedging policy

transactions

The Company will engage in derivatives transactions in order to avoid risk of interest rate fluctuations or reduce the burden of interest payment, not in those with a speculative purpose or high leverage effect.

The Company will also engage in currency derivatives transactions within the volume of contracts for assets, liabilities, or transactions in foreign currency, since the purpose of derivatives transactions is to hedge transactions in foreign currency against the risk of exchange rate fluctuations. The Company will therefore not conduct derivatives transactions for speculative purposes.

(4) Method for valuating the effectiveness of hedge transactions

The Company has adopted an exceptional treatment for interest rate swap transactions since the notional principal, conditions for receipt and payment of interest (such as the interest rate and dates of receipt and payment of interest) and contract terms are the same as those for transactions being hedged. The Company has not therefore conducted post tests to evaluate the effectiveness of interest rate transactions. Forward exchange contracts are used to hedge foreign currency exposures under a risk management policy of designing the contract, as it is concluded, to have the same amount and maturity in order to establish a relationship that cancels out any subsequent change in the exchange rate. This allows the Company to dispense with evaluation of the effectiveness of such hedges at the settlement of accounts.

(5) Other risk control methods concerned with hedge accounting

Since the issuance of corporate bonds to be hedged, borrowing of a large amount of money, and similar acts are subject to resolutions by the board of directors, the conclusion of currency swap or interest rate swap contracts as a means of hedging such bond issuances, borrowings, and the like are to be resolved at the time of the act by the board of directors. Currency and interest derivatives transactions are conducted and managed by the Accounting Department subject to the Corporate Management Rules.

(f) Other significant items for the preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements

Accounting for consumption taxes

National and local consumption taxes are accounted for using the tax exclusion method.

5. Scope of funds in interim Consolidated Cash Flow Statement

Business segmentation is based on considerations of similarities among product types (inclusive of operations) and markets.

2. Classification of main products by business segment

Business segment	Main Products
Office Furniture	Office furniture, Cultural and educational facilities, Partitions, Medical
Office Furniture	and research facilities, Security systems, SOHO-related products
Store Displays	Showcases for stores, Refrigerated showcases, Counters for stores
Material Handling Systems and Others	Racks and stackers for factories and warehouses, Automated material handling systems, Torque converters for industrial and construction equipment, Real estate leasing, Insurance
